

Home |
 Climbing Areas |
 Climbing Routes |
 Guidebooks |
 Free Topos |
 Photos | Forum

Home > Climbing Routes > Yosemite Valley > Washington Column, Astroman

Sunday, September 27, 2026

Astroman 5.11c

Washington Column

Yosemite Valley, California USA

Search

Overview |
 Route Photos |
 Route Beta |
 Trip Reports |
 Map |
 Recommended Gear

TRIP REPORT

A Laywoman's Account of Astroman

by tahoe523

Monday May 16, 2011 6:25am

This climb was equal parts sweat, blood and manic enthusiasm. What began with a, 'WE WILL BE ON THE TRAIL AT 5AM SHARP TOMORROW' pep talk ended in a post 6am start. My clock has 8 buttons. I was hoping one of them would go buzz and that the other 7, you know, did not hinder in its duty. No bueno.

6:30am In the Awhanee parking lot fumbling with gear and taking blurry photos of the topo. Still no real lateral movement.

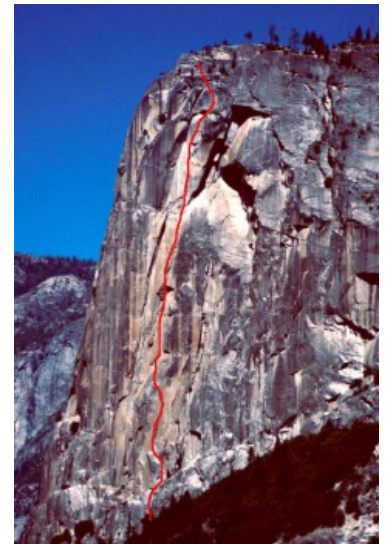

7am Appreciatively following the cairns, the approach took about a half hour and change. Tired and uncaffeinated, motivation was a wee low. Until we saw this:

The Enduro Corner

Credit: tahoe523

Trip Reports

Astroman takes a brilliant steep and clean line.

Photo: Chris McNamara

Recent Trip Reports

- [The Kohala Ditch Trail: 36ish hrs on foot... to and from the headwaters. \[5 of 5\]](#)
 May 31, 2019; 11:57pm
- A Winter Traverse of the California section of the PCT Part 8
 May 31, 2019; 11:18pm
- Supertopo, A trip report for posterity
 May 31, 2019; 11:00pm
- Balch Fest 2013. Two Days in and Around and On The Flake. The Official Trip Report
 May 31, 2019; 10:57pm
- TR: My visit to the Canoe
 May 31, 2019; 10:24pm
- Death, Alpine Climbing, The Shield on El Cap
 May 31, 2019; 4:07pm
- Andy Nisbet \(1953–2019\)
 May 31, 2019; 2:11pm
- Drama on Baboquivari Peak
 May 31, 2019; 1:19pm
- [Joffre + The Aemmer Couloir: ski descents come unexpected catharsis \[part 2\]](#)
 May 31, 2019; 7:45am
- Lost To The Sea, by Disaster Master
 May 30, 2019; 5:36am
- My Up And Down Life, Disaster Master
 May 29, 2019; 11:44pm

Enter the Vienna Choir Boys singing Hallelujah.
Psyche back. It was on like donkey kong.

We linked P1 – P3 to the base of the enduro corner. Pitch 1 was soggy, but protectable where needed. As said previously by many, soloing to the base of the 10a lb is mellow. Confession: I've led it, followed it and never felt solid leaving the tree or at the grassy mantel. I'd still rope up if the pitch were bone dry.

P4 If you're a 5.10 gumby like me, you will have probably brought everything but the kitchen sink. See exhibit A. Dump it all on your belayer except for your red, green and purple cams. If you onsight this pitch, you are a machine. If I had a dollar for every time I mumbled, "I can't believe Peter Croft free soloed this when I was two," I would be 17 bucks richer today.

Exhibit A

Credit: tahoe523

- Halibut Hats and Climbers–What Gives?
May 29, 2019; 7:24pm
- G Rubberfat Overhang–First Ascent 1961
May 29, 2019; 12:28pm
- Coonyard Pinnacle 50 Years Later
May 29, 2019; 12:24pm
- Great Pumpkin with Mr Kamps and McClinsky– 1971
May 29, 2019; 12:02pm
- View more trip reports >

Other Routes on Washington Column

South Face, C1 5.8
Washington Column

The South Face of Washington Column.

Prow, C2F 5.6
Washington Column

The line follows a series of small features.

Skull Queen, C2 5.8
Washington Column

Skull Queen.

Ten Day's After, A3 5.8
Washington Column

A series of steep corners lead to an exposed face.

Re-animator, A3 5.8
Washington Column

The steepest route on the Column.

More routes on Washington Column

Credit: tahoe523

P5 and 6 were linked. Here's my partner stemming before the anchor at the alcove.

Credit: tahoe523

P7 Excited! It was time to meet the great, polished overhanging birthing canal that is the Harding Slot. Brilliantly fun laybacking brings you to the start of the slot. My friends tried to free this pitch a few days earlier to no avail. They didn't have anything larger than a #4. I returned with them and a #6 to aid as Plan B. I have no shame. That, or I'm too lazy to photoshop the shiny green cam out of the photos.

Start of the HS

Credit: tahoe523

Credit: tahoe523

There was some strenuous stemming and a lean in with the elbow, but definitely no dyno'ing of the chicken wing. I got in without the #6 which I still carried on my harness. Awesome!

The Harding Slot!

Credit: tahoe523

I'm going to go out on a limb here and say that the next fifteen minutes were not enjoyable.

But fifteen minutes later? PURE ELATION! Off belay! I don't know when Type II fun turned into Type I fun and when Type III fun upgraded to Type II fun, but it did at some point. This was definitely type II fun.

Credit: tahoe523

If you're bigger and are forced to climb on the outside, you can protect the move with a #6 up top 10 feet before the anchor. We saw that it nicely cams in the narrow section on the right side. See exhibit B. I don't think I could do that on lead, but again, 5.10 gumby here. I think I mumbled more Croft free soloing befuddlement. $11 and counting. TL;DR: It's possible to protect the moves if you're climbing on the outside. You just have to lug around a huge chunk of metal. Alternatively, you can use your helmet as a chockstone.

Exhibit B: The protectable HS

Credit: tahoe523

I'm rhapsodizing too much for a trip report. Sorry. More pictures, less talk.

P8 Comparably moderate, great climbing!

P9 Changing Corners. If this pitch were at the base of the cookie, there would be a congo line of monkeys waiting to have at it. It's brilliant that the Harding Slot is below this pitch acting like a form of contraception.

Changing Corners

Credit: tahoe523

P10 More nice laybacking.

Credit: tahoe523

P11 The view from under the roof just before stepping onto the ledge.

Taken from P11

Credit: tahoe523

P12 There is only one piton on this pitch. I couldn't free this even if you put a gun to my head. The two copperheads are still good. I had to pendulum over to unclip the draw from the last copper head. I was spooked. On top rope.

Summit! We scuttled across the slabs and down Serenity/Sons. It was late enough in the day; there were no climbers on the route. This wasn't recommended in the topo, but we headed for a rap line we knew really well and would be comfortable descending in the dark. There are heaps of cairns for the RA rap. I heard the gully isn't bad at all. That is just what we did.

Credit: tahoe523

9:30pm On the ground. Rain starts to fall. We were lucky. We woke up to two inches of snow this morning. I can only imagine how miserable it would have been to shiver bivy up top.

Thanks for reading. Hope you enjoyed the trip report!

Trip Report Views: 18,847

tahoe523

About the Author

Shino Jomoto is currently residing in San Francisco-- a climber and skier by addiction, a semi-productive cog at a non-profit, and a not so tasteful storyteller by nature.

Comments

mcreel

climber
Barcelona

Good job, and thanks for the TR!

May 16, 2011 - 06:32am PT

Clint Cummins

Way killer TR + pics!

[Edit:] Close to an onsight of the slot - that's still pretty dang good.

Last time I topped out on it, my partner had to pull on a cam on the boulder problem, at the Slot entrance move, and on the last pitch (and he has done A-

May 17, 2011 - 02:34am PT

Trad climber
SF Bay area, CA

man many times).
Me? I jumared the whole thing that time!
I've never freed the entrance move to the slot, in spite of several tries. (Last time I couldn't even exit the slot after a 90 minute epic – Waahhh!)

survival

Congratulations!

May 16, 2011 – 07:38am PT

Enjoyed the pix.

Big Wall climber
Terrapin Station

Still no tick for me.....waaaaaaaaa!

frog-e

Thank you for the fun and interesting trip report.
And for some really cool pictures.
I am very happy for your success.

May 16, 2011 – 08:13am PT

Trad climber
Imperial Beach
California

Captain...or Skully

Nicely done & documented.
Thanks for sharing it.

May 16, 2011 – 08:39am PT

climber
Boise, ID

Doug Robinson

WOW, thanks.

May 16, 2011 – 10:28am PT

You guys rock!

Trad climber
Santa Cruz

rockermike

damn, she can write and climb too. way cool

May 16, 2011 – 10:30am PT

Trad climber
Berkeley

Mike Bolte

fabulous TR and way to get on the route!!!

May 16, 2011 – 10:48am PT

Trad climber
Planet Earth

Elcapinyoazz

Nice work! Thanks for the pics.

May 16, 2011 – 10:56am PT

Social climber
Joshua Tree

Roxy

i LOVE reading TRs on a Monday before I start the weekly grind.

May 16, 2011 – 10:56am PT

TFPU! and kudos to ticking a mega-classic!

Trad climber
CA Central Coast

Karl Baba

Wow! Thanks. Great TR and images

May 16, 2011 – 11:07am PT

Peace

Trad climber
Yosemite, Ca

Karl

Tahoe climber

Nice work and great TR
 Psyched for you TC

May 16, 2011 - 11:11am PT

climber
 Davis these days

the Fet

Well done!
 Great pics and text!

May 16, 2011 - 11:13am PT

climber
 Tu-Tok-A-Nu-La

Mark Hudon

Any day you climb Astroman is a good day!
 Excellent TR, Congratulations.

May 16, 2011 - 11:20am PT

Trad climber
 On the road.

susu

Enjoyed your TR and inspiring photos! Really love your profile picture too. Great flash onsite of the Harding slot!

May 16, 2011 - 11:33am PT

climber
 East Bay, CA

bluering

Awesome pics!

May 16, 2011 - 11:23am PT

Trad climber
 Santa Clara, CA

BrassNuts

Good stuff! I'm impressed that you were able to link the first 3 pitches - the hard moves on the "boulder problem" pitch 3 with rope drag must have been good value! Good job.

May 16, 2011 - 11:27am PT

Trad climber
 Save your a_s, reach for the brass...

Dirka

Solid bro!

May 16, 2011 - 11:28am PT

Trad climber
 Hustle City

Mtnmun

What a cool post to wake up to. Need to get back on the mountain soon and feel the love. Thanks for posting this. Jude

May 16, 2011 - 11:34am PT

Trad climber
 Top of the Mountain
 Mun

tahoe523

Author's Reply

No onsight of the slot. My partner gave me the paint by numbers beta. It was like following plastic colored blobs, and I was all ears to hear what he had to say.

May 16, 2011 - 02:52pm PT

Trad climber
 Station Wagon, USA

We had done Astroboy and made attempts at onsighting those pitches. I C1'd. On TR nonetheless. But again, 5.10 flailer and barely bouldering V0--. He had onsighted on his first attempt, so for the sake of time and wanting our friends to start climbing as soon as possible as well, he linked the pitches like an animal and C1'd, so there was no need for smooth rope action. I think he still free climbed all but two moves.

Wish I flashed the harding slot, but I buckled and pulled on a completely undercammed .75 and an orange alien. I guess I didn't want it bad enough. It's one thing to work the moves near the ground. It was another to take into consideration the time of day and the possibility of other climbers wanting to get up the damn thing as well. Plus, flashing 5.11c? That's crazy talk. At least I freed my way in and up for 90%. I'm happy. My knees? Not so much.

My friends are from Catalonia and are in the valley for a bit. If you see them, please say hello. Ungodly full of talent and admirable character to match. Root for them. They will be wearing bright colors on the Nose this week when the sky clears!

Double D

climber

Nice send and great TR!

May 16, 2011 - 02:16pm PT

susuclimber
East Bay, CA

Thank you for the open details... still, killer job! Just out of curiosity, do you want to get back to climb it again any time soon? Would you bring the 6" Piece a next time?

May 16, 2011 - 02:41pm PT

BarcusSocial climber
San Luis Obispo, Ca.

Awsome TR, thanks for the trek!
Your first TR gets an A+!!!!

Marcus
Evil too!

May 16, 2011 - 02:56pm PT

Aya KTrad climber Boulder, CO!

Love it, thanks!

May 16, 2011 - 02:59pm PT

CrimpergirlSport climber Boulder, Colorado!

Nice stuff! What's up next? When is the next TR? More more more!

May 16, 2011 - 03:07pm PT

NigelSSITrad climber
B.C.

I'm drooling a bit more than usual right now.

May 16, 2011 - 03:22pm PT

10b4meSocial climber Lida Junction

thanks for the trip report and pictures.

May 16, 2011 - 03:28pm PT

nutjobSport climber Almost to Hollywood, Baby!

Excelente!

Great effort, great pics, and it inspires me to get better to give it a shot.

May 16, 2011 - 03:35pm PT

msiddens

Trad climber

nice work!

May 16, 2011 - 03:37pm PT

GalTrad climber going big air to fakie

Great job! Inspiring!

May 16, 2011 - 03:39pm PT

thedogfatherTrad climber
Was Red Rock, now
KANSAS

Great TR. I liked exhibit A

May 16, 2011 - 04:09pm PT

SCseagoatTrad climber
Santa Cruz

Wonderful report and pics. I really enjoyed reading about it (as I sit here all warm with a great cuppa tea)... Susan

May 16, 2011 - 04:17pm PT

JEleazarianTrad climber
Fresno CA

Wow! Thanks much for a great TR about a great effort.

May 16, 2011 - 04:22pm PT

John

tahoe523Trad climber
Station Wagon, USA

Author's Reply

Although it was a pain to tote along, I needed to carry the #6 because I had no idea how capable I was getting to the anchor. I have some extra fat cells on me that I didn't have when I last climbed the Steck Salathe, but man, the harding slot felt way tighter! I could breath, but I should have taken my shoes and gear off me before jumping head first. Face palm The harding slot is the ultimate timesink. Half hour to get up the thing, followed by wasting another half hour trying to get my side of the rope free and back down the slot (don't do this unless you're, like, the rope whisperer), so that I could haul the rack up. No dice. The rope was too far over climber's right.

May 16, 2011 - 04:33pm PT

I would not bring a number six on the climb again because I know I can free it. Yeah! However, if I knew I could not work my way through the slot from the inside, I would definitely take it with me. This route demands every technique: offwidth, loads of laybacking, incredible endurance, squeeze, tight hands, stemming, bouldery moves and a damn strong requisite headspace to finish the runout face pitch in daylight and back down to the valley at a reasonable hour. I gather most climbers that head up Astroman are not like me, and I now understand why this line doesn't see the gummy traffic that other tough routes see. So, to answer your question, no, I don't think most people need a #6 even if they stay on the outside. But if you're just a closet nervous wreck on that pitch and know that you can demonstrate the competence to handle all the other pitches in a reasonable time, then haul that 6 with you. Many will scoff. So what.

Whoa. I never thought I'd love spraying as much as I do. This is fun! Ok, I'll shut up now.

susuclimber
East Bay, CA

No don't shut up ~ you done proud! Thanks for the great answer!

May 16, 2011 - 05:52pm PT

Congratulations. Great trip report. Really nice pictures.

May 17, 2011 - 03:01pm PT

Roger Breedlove

PS: I aided it all over 1 1/2 days.

climber
Cleveland Heights, Ohio

Zander

climber

All right!
Way to go.
Zander

May 16, 2011 - 06:29pm PT

Mason

Trad climber
Yay Area

Nice work!

Awesome TR and awesome pictures. Now I'm more stoked than ever to get strong and climb this someday!

May 16, 2011 - 07:12pm PT

Ezra Ellis

Trad climber
North wet, and Da
souf

Awesome Effort and TR, TFPUI!

May 16, 2011 - 10:01pm PT

Klimbln

climber Sandstonia

Wonderful. Thank you.

May 16, 2011 - 10:12pm PT

213

climber
Where the Froude number often >> 1

Bravo! Great stuff!

The lieback picture is really cool with the juxtaposition of a normal looking foreground but with the trees growing perpendicularly to the 'normal' orientation. I like.
Spectacular stone throughout...can't wait to find this end of the road to enlightenment later this season!

May 17, 2011 - 12:44am PT

Wen

Trad climber Bend, OR

The Harding Slot acting like a form of contraception! Love that line. Wish I were as burly as you. Are you really climbing the slot in a tank top? Wow! Awesome TR!

May 17, 2011 - 01:33am PT

murcy

Gym climber sanfrancisco

Sweet ascent and TR; thanks!

May 17, 2011 - 01:50am PT

Daphne

Trad climber
Northern California

Awesome TR and please, More Rhapsodizing! --you do it so very well. Thanks for showing me your perspective of a route I will most likely never get up. I will look for more of your "spray".

May 17, 2011 - 02:14am PT

johntp

Trad climber
Punter, Little Rock

Sweet TR; thank you for PU.

May 17, 2011 - 02:33am PT

Cain J Waters

Mountain climber
Ithaca, NY

Tahoe,

Thanks for a really cool and honest write up. I can't believe you climbed the slot in a tanktop! Burly.

You can stop calling yourself a 5.10gumby. Proud tick, guys and gal. -CW

May 19, 2011 - 01:10pm PT

Paulina

Trad climber
Seattle, WA

Sweet!

May 19, 2011 - 02:02pm PT

Mr_T

Trad climber
Northern California

Rawk on!

May 20, 2011 - 06:43pm PT

wayne burleson

climber
Amherst, MA

Fun report! Great can-do attitude. That #6 will be useful on the Rostrum too...

May 21, 2011 - 06:01pm PT

Vulcan

Sport climber

Ticked?? Pull on gear. No way.

May 21, 2011 - 07:56pm PT

Clint Cummins

Trad climber
SF Bay area, CA

Yeah, maybe "Finally climbed" would be a better choice of words.
But I bet she'll be back to free all the pitches.
Most people don't get a no-falls ascent their first try on A-man.

May 21, 2011 - 08:03pm PT

Vulcan

Sport climber

Climbed means you climb the rock without aid.

May 21, 2011 - 08:43pm PT

Clint Cummins

Trad climber
SF Bay area, CA

Well, there is "free climbing" and "aid climbing".
The "climb" part does not define free or aid.
You can use "aided" if you want to emphasize that you didn't free something.
Or you can use "freed" to emphasize that you climbed something free.
Or "survived" / "epiced" if you struggled more than expected....
For example, most people talk about "climbing" El Cap. They don't say "someday I want to aid El Cap", they say "someday I want to climb El Cap".
Of course you are free to define "climb" any way you want.
But if most people define it differently, you won't communicate as well.

May 21, 2011 - 09:59pm PT

couchmaster

climber

...AND F*ING TOTALLY AWESOME WRITING AS WELL! WOOT!

STILL LOLZING

May 21, 2011 - 10:00pm PT

Vulcan

Sport climber

Yes...most people would never say
"i want to aid a route" because it's second rate.
5.11c free climbed over 25 years ago.

May 21, 2011 - 11:42pm PT

I'm hurtin ...Ice climber midwest

Excellent trip report! Nicley written, fun to read.

May 22, 2011 - 12:16am PT

Vulcan, STFU!

JanMountain climber
Colorado & NepalUnique and interesting trip report.
More climbs and more write ups please!

May 22, 2011 - 01:04am PT

Bad ClimberTrad climber
The Lawless Border
Regions

Yow! I loved this report. I don't think I'll ever be up to the standards of Astroman, so it sure was nice to be taken along. You guys did so well. Such moments in life are few. Revel in it!

May 22, 2011 - 09:23am PT

BAd

hobo_danSocial climber Minnesota

Thanks for sharing

May 22, 2011 - 11:14am PT

SeamstressTrad climber
Yacolt, WA

Thanks for the extra attention to the pro. GOt another 5.10 gumby thinking....

May 24, 2011 - 01:49pm PT

HighTraverseTrad climber Bay Area*I'm rhapsodizing too much for a trip report*

I have to correct you here. Great TR, well written. Good beta on the HS. Excellent accomplishment.

May 25, 2011 - 09:02pm PT

Wondersoclimber SF Bay Area

Sweet! Congratulations on your climb, that's great! Great shot of the all smiles team at the end! Thanks for sharing your trip!

May 26, 2011 - 01:27pm PT

eagleTrad climber new paltz, ny

nice report and awesome photos. that harding slot pitch looks very scary

Jun 5, 2011 - 07:29pm PT

blackbirdTrad climber the flat water trails...

SWEET!!

Jun 5, 2011 - 09:28pm PT

Mimi

Missed this one. Wow, what an interesting TR. Can't recall seeing one for this type of ascent of Astroman before. Very cool. It will inspire other climbers to enjoy this great climb.

Jun 5, 2011 - 09:36pm PT

climber

murcyGym climber
sanfrancisco

Jun 5, 2011 - 11:28pm PT

Awesome TR and great pictures. This is the first shot of the Harding Slot that made it clear to me why it's not a cakewalk:

Proud! Looking forward to your TR of the Salathe.

mariajiSocial climber
Tucson, AZ

Jun 23, 2011 - 01:34am PT

What a hilarious and entertaining TR, thanks for posting, very inspired!

Johnny K.

climber

Dec 17, 2011 - 04:34pm PT

Shino....awesome! =D

martygarrisonTrad climber
Washington DC

Dec 17, 2011 - 08:17pm PT

sounds like you did the east face of washington column, not astroman. sorry

Cain J WatersMountain climber
Ithaca, NY

Dec 17, 2011 - 10:36pm PT

Most people who climb the east face of Washington Column without aiders, daisies or jumars and free 95% of the route would say that they climbed Astroman.

She never made claim to freeing the entire route, and I can speak for many in that we collectively appreciated her honest account and colorful commentary. Did she "tick" the route? No, and she would probably recant if she could change the title. But the woman climbed Astroman. To say otherwise while appending a meaningless apology is a bit tacky and condescending.

Jingyclimber Random Nobody

Dec 17, 2011 - 10:58pm PT

Really great TR.

Thank you for the story, and the photos.

I feel a little closer to the climb today

Cheers

tahoe523Trad climber
Station Wagon, USA

Feb 15, 2012 - 11:07am PT

Author's Reply

Ha! Yikes. Tough crowd! Indeed, I climbed the east face, but frankly, it's not as sexy sounding as its modern, more bravado-esque name. Turns out that you can actually change TR titles, too. I guess posts are another story. No official tick, for all you armchair critics.

Wording updated, but I'm keeping the rest of the title. "A Laywoman's Account of the East Face of Washington Column" doesn't have the notoriety that, even if ever so slightly, would increase my chances of getting into a climber's pants.

jaaanTrad climber Chamonix, France

Feb 14, 2012 - 03:56pm PT

I'd be over the moon if I'd climbed Astroman like you did. I've never done it and probably never will. Take no notice of them.

couchmaster

Feb 14, 2012 - 04:57pm PT

"A Laywoman's Account of the East Face of Washington Column" doesn't have the notoriety that, even if ever so

climber

slightly, would increase my chances of getting into a climber's pants.

LOL.

Truly engaging witty and interesting writing is rare these days. I can't say how hard you actually climb (pretty damned hard) but your writing is certainly 5.15B or more.

Kurt Ettinger

Trad climber
Martinez, CA

Feb 14, 2012 - 05:39pm PT

Missed this one. Very nicely done (both climb and TR). Great wit!

Largo

Sport climber
The Big Wide Open Face

Feb 14, 2012 - 11:26pm PT

So far my fav TR on SP.

JL

donini

Trad climber
Ouray, Colorado

Feb 15, 2012 - 10:18am PT

Proud!

LongAgo

Trad climber

Feb 15, 2012 - 01:02pm PT

Great pics, wonderfully energized report. All the reasons we climb are right here.

I think what makes this climb so rich is how so many climbers find different parts harder and easier, making for animated sharing and chatter back and forth. When Bev Johnson and I did this one way back when, E corner was so bird pooppy I came off a really slippery section. Given our rules of the game of the day about no rope rests, I lowered off and redid the whole pitch again. Bev followed just fine. Then, neither of us found the H slot an issue, but did get rattled on what seemed like a decaying last pitch with poor pro of the day. Maybe we were just "pooped."

Tom Higgins
LongAgo

Joe

Social climber
Santa Cruz

Feb 15, 2012 - 01:38pm PT

missed this one until now... really well done TR, and por supuesto proud climbing!

hossjulia

Trad climber
Carson City, NV

Mar 3, 2014 - 10:26am PT

WML, thanks for the bump, great way to start my morning in the cube.

Reilly

Mountain climber
The Other
Monrovia- CA

Mar 3, 2014 - 11:56am PT

Missed this the first time. Definitely one of the best written TR's EVAH!

jstan

climber

Did you see what I saw?

A real writer!

Mar 3, 2014 - 12:17pm PT

Vitaliy M.Mountain climber
San Francisco

Great TR.

Mar 3, 2014 - 01:36pm PT

sounds like you did the east face of washington column, not astroman. sorry

Classic Supertopo.

Bad ClimberTrad climber
The Lawless Border
Regions

I missed this the first time around...

Freakin' great!

One great line: "P9 Changing Corners. If this pitch were at the base of the cookie, there would be a congo line of monkeys waiting to have at it. It's brilliant that the Harding Slot is below this pitch acting like a form of contraception."

Ah, the Harding Condom! Don't get better den dat.

Thanks.

BAd

Mar 3, 2014 - 04:29pm PT

melskiTrad climber bytheriver

you bring to the table that ,honest ,youthful mind stream,dialoque we all wish we had more of,,hang on,with it,,,powerful stuff,look forward to more,,peaceandlove,,

Mar 3, 2014 - 08:57pm PT

MikelSocial climber
Southern Arizona

Very nice write-up. Cheers. Good on ya.

Mar 3, 2014 - 10:53pm PT

le_bruceclimber
Oakland, CA

We miss Tahoe523!

Mar 4, 2014 - 03:40pm PT

ElcapinyoazzSocial climber
Joshua Tree

^^^Yeah we do. I think she climbed everything already. Astroman, Crucifix, etc etc. Probably tow-in surfing the Pipeline during tsumanis these day or something. Girls gotta keep the excitement quota up.

Mar 4, 2014 - 04:09pm PT

le_bruceclimber
Oakland, CA

Bump because who doesn't start thinking about the Astroman in March?
Fear/desire, fear/desire, fear/desire etc etc

Mar 23, 2016 - 11:35pm PT

AWESOME!!!!

Mar 24, 2016 - 11:36am PT

SteveW

Trad climber
The state of confusion

Great send, great pics, and great TR!!!
Thanks!!!

Alexey

climber
San Jose, CA

Mar 24, 2016 - 02:20pm PT

Bryce, since you bumping all Astroman TR- I wish you do it sooner than later. Go for it man , do not hesitate - your body want to do it it mean that you are ready

Home | Climbing Areas | Free Topos | Guidebooks | Route Beta | Forum | Trip Reports | Photos | Articles
Links | Terms | Privacy | FAQ | Contact | About Us

Climbing Areas

Rock Climbing Yosemite | Big Wall Rock Climbing Yosemite | Rock Climbing Tuolumne | Rock Climbing Sierra
Rock Climbing Red Rocks | Rock Climbing Southwest | Rock Climbing Zion | Rock Climbing Tahoe | Climbing Alaska

Copyright © 2026 SuperTopo LLC

All trademarks property of their respective owners

How can we improve SuperTopo? Got feedback?

Let us know!

Time to generate this page: 0.13 secs.

Climbing is dangerous. Climb at your own risk.