

Home | Climbing Areas | Climbing Routes | Guidebooks | Free Topos | Photos | Forum
Home > Climbing Routes > Yosemite Valley > El Capitan, The Nose

Sunday, September 27, 2026

The Nose 5.14a or 5.9 C2

El Capitan

Yosemite Valley, California USA

 Search
Overview | Route Photos | Route Beta | Trip Reports | Map | Recommended Gear

TRIP REPORT

How I Learned to Climb the NIAD in 3 Days and 2 Nights

by tahoe523

Wednesday July 6, 2011 12:28pm

Warning: zero-beta alert. In fact, there is nothing insightful about this trip report. Our accomplishment is tarnished by the fact that thousands upon thousands before us have done the same damn thing. And have written about it, too. We know we're not special. Well, maybe in that short school bus kinda way, but not because we climbed The Nose. Allow me to entertain you with my enthusiasm for story telling anyway. Who knows, maybe this will evoke feelings of nostalgia from a time when you and your partner bit off way more than you could chew. Whatever. You have been warned.

.....

The speed climbing beta spray continued. I nod my head like I know what the hell these bridge rats are talking about and take a mental note to google words like, "Pakistani Death Loop" and "How to Speed Climb for Dummies". I know. SOME THINGS SHOULD NOT BE DONE BY DUMMIES. True.

2pm Saturday: I short fix myself to the back of a Sprinter, toss the rope over a tree branch and jump off the roof of my car. The modified grigri was, in fact, up to the task of catching 125 pounds of moron. Neat! From here our troubles began.

"So what's your guys' strategy?"

"We will start climbing at 4pm."

"And...?"

(Silence)

"Hahaha. No and, huh? Well, then. Good luck. Remember, you just have to commit."

Cranking our necks up at the giant choss pile that lay before us, we start to get cold feet.

 Trip Reports

The Nose—the best rock climb in the world!

Photo: Mark Kroese

Recent Trip Reports

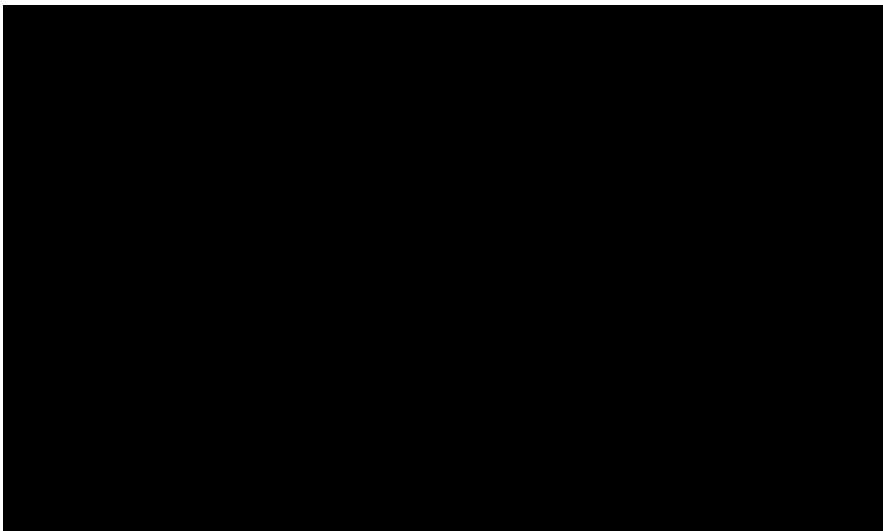

- [The Kohala Ditch Trail: 36ish hrs on foot... to and from the headwaters. \[5 of 5\]](#)
May 31, 2019; 11:57pm
- A Winter Traverse of the California section of the PCT Part 8
May 31, 2019; 11:18pm
- Supertopo, A trip report for posterity
May 31, 2019; 11:00pm
- Balch Fest 2013. Two Days in and Around and On The Flake. The Official Trip Report
May 31, 2019; 10:57pm
- TR: My visit to the Canoe
May 31, 2019; 10:24pm
- Death, Alpine Climbing, The Shield on El Cap
May 31, 2019; 4:07pm
- Andy Nisbet \(1953–2019\)
May 31, 2019; 2:11pm
- Drama on Baboquivari Peak
May 31, 2019; 1:19pm
- [Joffre + The Aemmer Couloir: ski descents come unexpected catharsis \[part 2\]](#)
May 31, 2019; 7:45am
- Lost To The Sea, by Disaster Master
May 30, 2019; 5:36am
- My Up And Down Life, Disaster Master
May 29, 2019; 11:44pm
- Halibut Hats and Climbers—What Gives?
May 29, 2019; 7:24pm
- G Rubberfat Overhang—First Ascent 1961

Credit: tahoe523

Saturday night: The Hungarian and I set off to the base a few hours behind schedule. Through the stormy spring of 2011, we bonded over our shared love of logistical improvisation and extreme self-flagellation. With fairy tales fornicating in our heads, we romanticize about trying to climb the NIAD. Yes! WE CAN DO IT! It, you know, seemed reasonable at the time.

Here I am climbing the first four pitches. We were, albeit foolishly, inspired to start at night to avoid the now blazing summer heat. Our revised strategy: take intermittent Benjamin Franklin style naps, charge in the daylight, come down with headlamps, fly back to San Francisco on my magic carpet and be back in time for work, showered, shaved and cleanly dressed 9am Monday morning. Again, Seemed. Reasonable. At. The. Time.

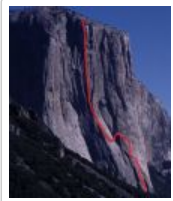

Credit: tahoe523

I was calmer knowingly starting in the dark. It didn't matter. Even with the familiarity of having climbed these pitches the week prior in daylight, they proved difficult. And while

May 29, 2019; 12:28pm

- Coonyard Pinnacle 50 Years Later
May 29, 2019; 12:24pm
- Great Pumpkin with Mr Kamps and McClinsky-1971
May 29, 2019; 12:02pm
- View more trip reports >

Other Routes on El Capitan

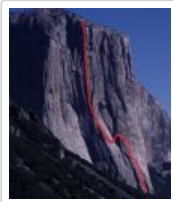

Freerider, 5.12D
El Capitan

The Salathé Wall ascends the most natural line up El Cap.

Zodiac, A2 5.7
El Capitan

1800' of fantastic climbing.

Salathe Wall, 5.13b or 5.9 C2
El Capitan

The Salathé Wall ascends the most natural line up El Cap.

Lurking Fear, C2F 5.7
El Capitan

Lurking Fear is route number 1.

East Buttress, 5.10b
El Capitan

East Buttress with top of The Nose on left.

More routes on El Capitan

this might come as a huge surprise, I was exhausted. Cold feet prevailed and we decided to come down from Sickle, get some rest, add more water to the haul bag, bring the poop tube and start the next morning.

Sunday 6am: Juggling the fixed lines back to Sickle was a breeze. Aid climbing is like sex. It's exhilarating yet awkward at the get go, but the more you do it the better you get. And once you get married and have babies, I hear it's typically the first thing that goes out the window.

At Sickle, we intersect a real NIAD party and let them run along. Pigless parties go first. Nice guys from Tahoe. It was also their first time on the Nose, but unlike us, they were committed, prepared and from the looks of it, climbed without any struggle.

Here they are on the Stovelegs.

Credit: tahoe523

Stovelegs Part 1: Juggling past 120' of splitter 5.8 hands. I'm on cleaning duty. Like a poor man in a strip club, I ogle, but can't touch. Next time you find yourself climbing an amazingly fun or horrendously long pitch, consider giving your belayer a warm, appreciative hug. They are left to do a lot of the dirty work with none of the glory, tending rope and providing encouragement while you play and live to see another day. Sometimes I think it's more fun to watch a Chia Pet grow fur. No wonder the Silent Partner retails at $240. Human labor is cheap.

Stovelegs Part 2: JamjamMEEP. Two beady eyes stare back at me in equal disbelief. Crikey. I just socked a baby bird in the face. There's a sign outside a church near my home that reads, "God doesn't care if you wear jeans." While that might be true, I'm betting The Big Guy in the Sky has a problem with people assaulting cute animals. The tenth circle of hell is home to serial bird punchers, baby seal clubbers and long standing members of PETA. Little known fact. Don't believe me? Check Wikipedia in 2 hours. Not wanting to add insult to injury, I refrain from flashing my camera at his poor face.

Credit: Tom Evans

My partner takes over and swiftly gets us to Dolt. We chow and nap. Speed climbers, indeed! From Dolt, we run to the base of Texas Flake. RAAA! GO-GO-GADGET-CAM-HANDS! I whip out both #4s and crack jumar my way to our first bivy and we continue up to fix to the top of TF.

Credit: Tom Evans

Pitch 15, The Texas Flake: This is as easy as they get in Yosemite. Even the most unskilled can wiggle up this thing. That said, I still clip the chicken bolt and also protect up higher with a perfect .5 placement. The Hungarian continues on, fixes up to the top of Boot Flake, raps and cleans. We were ready to swing the next day.

Credit: tahoe523

Night #1: One word: ghetto. I crawl into a 40L haul bag and wrap a space blanket around my head. I consider this training for when I'm 65, 401K less and robbed of all Social Security benefits. Future Queen Hobo in the making.

Credit: tahoe523

The monkeys were definitely not sending, but were pretty okay with the circumstances. We accepted the realization of our non-speed climbing abilities and were happy that we hauled up plenty of water. Good news, we were hydrated. Bad news, I was so going to get fired.

From our bivy site and with a bit of squinting, we could make out PTPP and his partner on the AO wall.

Credit: tahoe523

Monday morning: we crawl to the start of the King Swing. Too low, my partner still sticks a huge pendulum 15' below Eagle Ledge. Me? I limp along like a wet dishrag in slippery sneakers. He tosses the rope. I batman my way toward the anchor.

Credit: Tom Evans

The L.A. NIADers on the King Swing

Credit: Tom Evans

We are met with an NIAD team. Nice pair from Los Angeles that helped extricate our pig from Texas Flake. We were grateful. One hadn't climbed in a year. They were "out of shape" and "working out". Seriously, where were all the bailing wall style sufferfesters to make us feel better about ourselves? Oh right, we were it. Team Ego Boost! We all make our way toward The Great Roof, but we had more haul bag issues, so they sped away.

Credit: tahoe523

At the roof we were passed by another pair of NIADers who had also never climbed The Nose. Two of us were cleaning the roof. I encountered brain freeze with a stuck jumar and botched their attempts at a smooth pass. It's times like these when you know you have a truly great partner. He never once yelled. Silently he waited for me to figure things out for myself while I publicly demonstrated my inability to problem solve in a timely manner. Profusely apologizing doesn't bring back lost time, so I stop and we high-five to me MacGyvering my way out of my own mess and continue onward.

From there, I go. Since I have roughly the same sized bladder as a Keebler Elf, I go fast. On a wall with lady parts, I am at an even more considerable disadvantage. Seriously, boys, we conceive babies; we make less money with the same title; we lose our last name; we pay to have our ass crack waxed; we menstruate; we are deceived by mechanics; we are forced to hold our bladders while we watch you stand comfortably in the middle of a climb and urinate in cursive. At least we outlive you, can multi-task and don't have to worry about boners. But still. I'm jealous about the peeing. I barely make it to Camp 5 before liberally urinating for what I think was a personal record. We fix to the Glowering Spot and bivy below for Night #2.

Credit: tahoe523

Tuesday morning, we run to Camp 6. Unlike most people I know, I quite enjoy pooing on a wall. I mean, look at the view. Sure beats the hell outta staring at sheetrock and back copies of Rock & Ice. I drop anchor while my partner takes on the Changing Corners and then I scamper along to pitch 28 and link to the freezing cold alcove.

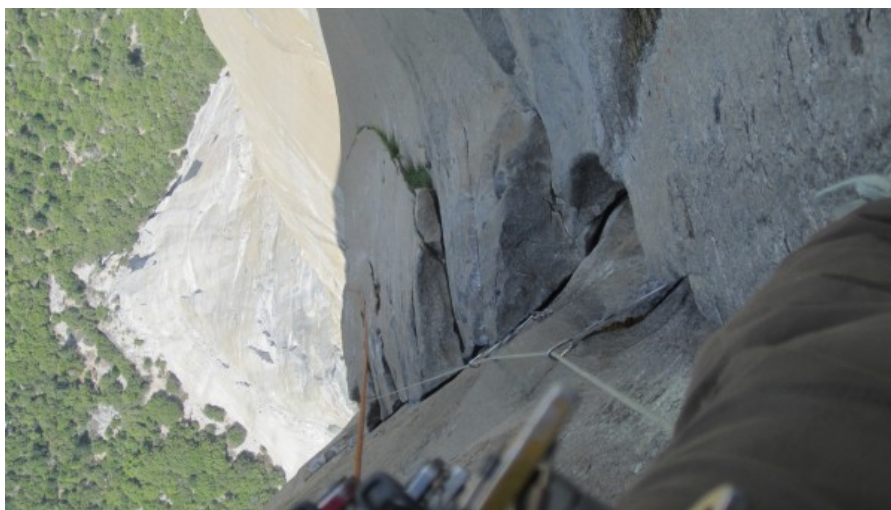

Credit: tahoe523

Looking down at the Changing Corners

Credit: tahoe523

For my hand size, THIS was the Angelina Jolie of pitches. 200' of #1s. The Hungarian jugs toward me. I greet him with a goofy smile and a giant bear hug. That pitch rocked my world.

Mmmm #1 camalots

Credit: tahoe523

On the last day we finally have good rhythm and figure out our systems just as the pig was getting light and the summit was nearing. My partner takes us through the bolt ladder and after 60 hours into our 24-hour attempt, we make it to the top.

We take our summit shot from a distance since we looked about as bad as we smelled and were unable to smile with our sunburnt lips. We rejoiced and frowned with laughter. We lay there comatose until storm clouds start to form and make threats to pour.

summit!

Credit: tahoe523

Two hours later we're back at the bridge. I drive like a mad woman to the pizza deck, booty leftovers, heat it all up on my engine block and return back to camp. The 2 pack of rock hard abdominal muscles I carved on the Nose was quickly lost to 7 slices of pizza, 3 bowls of pasta, a slice of chocolate crème pie and 12 Ikea meatballs. Finding something you're really good at, if you haven't already done so by your mid-20s, is difficult. Definitely not a speed climber, but now considering the competitive eating circuit. You think I'm joking? If you are my mother, than yes I am.

Dumb and full I stare intently at a fortune cookie someone taped to a bear box. "Never regret. If it's good, it's wonderful. If it's bad, it's experience."

Hmm. I have regrets. I don't mull over any of them for too long, but I have them and luckily don't have to harbor any like having to give up illegitimate children, buying a home or passing up a free sex change. I do, however, regret punching what I hope wasn't a baby Peregrine. And I do regret that we didn't commit- commit to going wall style. We had the goods to go slower, but felt this urgency to climb with speed.

Wall style climbing is underrated. We were too busy getting away from each other speed climbing that we never really got to hang out and have the fun we really could have had. We regret not having a Jetboil, no music blazing dance parties. We regret hauling no beer. These are things you have to sacrifice if you want to go light and fast. Since we weren't going fast, we should have gone heavier. While a bit tough on the hauling, The Nose is an easy route and one that we would have really enjoyed if we savored it. We didn't commit to a style and for that we suffered.

That night, it dumps rain all over the valley.

The next morning with the magic carpet nowhere to be found, we make our way back to San Francisco in a car. We giggle endlessly over our ridiculous ascent. We had enough of Yosemite to last us until fall.

The Captain and I are on trial separation. Time to rebound with the Incredible Hulk.

Trip Report Views: 18,648

tahoe523

About the Author

Shino Jomoto is currently residing in San Francisco and surprisingly still gainfully employed.

Comments

climbingcook

Trad climber sf

Sweet!

Jul 6, 2011 - 12:38pm PT

hb81

climber

Stovelegs Part 2: JamjamMEEP. Two beady eyes stare back at me in equal disbelief. Crikey. I just socked a baby bird in the face. There's a sign outside a church near my home that reads, "God doesn't care if you wear jeans." While that might be true, I'm betting The Big Guy in the Sky has a problem with people assaulting cute animals. The tenth circle of hell is home to serial bird punchers, baby seal clubbers and long standing members of PETA. Little known fact. Don't believe me? Check Wikipedia in 2 hours. Not wanting to add insult to injury, I refrain from flashing my camera at his poor face.

Jul 6, 2011 - 12:43pm PT

Hahahahahahahahaha. Nice writing. :)

elcap-pics

Big Wall climber
Crestline CA

Fun stuff!! I thought you guys were going to die... thought little of your plan... and then... well you did it!! Pulled it off against considerable odds... good for you both!!
Congratulations, and regards,
Tom

Jul 6, 2011 - 12:46pm PT

Lambone

Big Wall climber
Ashland, Or

Awesome! I lol'd

Jul 6, 2011 - 12:49pm PT

Jul 6, 2011 - 12:56pm PT

Slakkey

Big Wall climber
From Back to Big Wall Baby

LOL great writing. No matter what style at least you were there. Nothing better than a Big Wall Adventure.

mcreel

climber
Barcelona

Jul 6, 2011 - 01:00pm PT

Thanks for another great TR, you had me laughing out loud in a few places.

Footloose

Trad climber
Lake Tahoe

Jul 6, 2011 - 01:18pm PT

Like a poor man in a strip club, I ogle, but can't touch.

Funny.

I crawl into a 40L haul bag and wrap a space blanket around my head. I consider this training for when I'm 65, 401K less and robbed of all Social Security benefits.

Second favorite funny.

Seriously, boys, we conceive babies; we make less money with the same title; we lose our last name; we pay to have our ass crack waxed; we menstruate; we are deceived by mechanics; we are forced to hold our bladders while we watch you stand comfortably in the middle of a climb and urinate in cursive.

Third favorite funny.

And I learned something new, too. Wow.

Great writeup. Thanks for sharing.

Jay Wood

Trad climber
Land of God-less fools

Jul 6, 2011 - 01:09pm PT

From the fornicating fairytales, to the bladder rant, your trip report rocked my world!

Go girl!

bluring

Trad climber
Santa Clara, CA

Jul 6, 2011 - 01:11pm PT

Well played.

murcy

Gym climber sanfrancisco

Jul 6, 2011 - 01:57pm PT

Sick!

Nice

Jul 6, 2011 - 02:10pm PT

GhoulweJ

Trad climber
El Dorado Hills, CA

Phil_B

Social climber
CHC, en zed

I'll read your spew any day of the week.

Jul 6, 2011 - 02:27pm PT

Thanks for posting up.

valygrl

climber
Boulder, CO

Awesomest TR ever.

Jul 6, 2011 - 02:27pm PT

bergbryce

climber
East Bay, CA

Radical

Jul 6, 2011 - 02:44pm PT

Russ Walling

Social climber
from Poofers Froth, Wyoming

Good stuff!

Jul 6, 2011 - 02:46pm PT

slidingmike

climber
CA

Love it, thanks so much for the stoke!

Jul 6, 2011 - 02:54pm PT

Clint Cummins

Trad climber
SF Bay area, CA

Thanks for sharing!
Pretty killer season with the extended weekends!

Jul 6, 2011 - 03:37pm PT

Gunkie

Trad climber
Valles Marineris

Wait. Oh yeah, I remember those days.

Great TR!

Jul 6, 2011 - 03:49pm PT

...and don't have to worry about boners.

JEleazarian

Trad climber
Fresno CA

Fun! Thanks for your excellent report.

John

Jul 6, 2011 - 04:06pm PT

Lace

climber
Seattle, WA

Awesome. Thanks for another TR that is the ray of sunshine in my day.

Jul 6, 2011 - 04:14pm PT

Jul 6, 2011 - 04:40pm PT

couchmaster

climber

Best trip report since your last phenomenal one of the Salathe. World class writing and we get it free right here on the Taco! Woot!

John Moosie

climber

Beautiful California

Jul 6, 2011 - 04:56pm PT

Classic! LOL.. When do you start training for El Cap and Half dome in a day?

Ottawa Doug

Social climber

Ottawa, Canada

Jul 6, 2011 - 05:42pm PT

That was a great TR! Thanks.

Doug

micronut

Trad climber

Fresno/Clovis, ca

Jul 6, 2011 - 05:49pm PT

Hoorah! For sheer quality of writing, photography, storyline, tastelessness, animal abuse and suffering you win the TR of the Month Award. Congratulations. You may pick up your prize at the Ahwahnee Hotel Front Desk. Tell them Micronut sent you. By the way, the only TR that was in the running with this one was the Four Loco Product Test. It was disqualified due to the fact that it was about bouldering.

frog-e

Trad climber

Imperial Beach
California

Jul 6, 2011 - 05:57pm PT

Keep up the great work Tahoe523!!

le_bruce

climber

Oakland, CA

Jul 6, 2011 - 07:24pm PT

Sweet! And damn, what a great spring season you've had. Thanks for sharing it all.

I'm married, and still own my aid gear, and haven't aided anything big in years... but I know some badass married aid climbers :)

Mark Hudon

Trad climber

On the road.

Jul 6, 2011 - 07:53pm PT

after 60 hours into our 24-hour attempt, we make it to the top.

Excellent!

Doug Robinson

Trad climber

Santa Cruz

Jul 6, 2011 - 09:41pm PT

Even the boss must appreciate your humor.

And to look at your fall tic list has the peanut gallery wriggling in our seats, yup.

BriGuy

climber

black hills, south dakota

Jul 6, 2011 - 10:10pm PT

Haha, nice work. Too funny, great read.

johntp

Trad climber

Punter, Little Rock

Jul 6, 2011 - 11:35pm PT

Nice TR!

Every time I see a pic of boot flake I can't help but wonder what is holding it in place.

Double D

climber

Possibly one of the best TR's I've read! Bravo!

Jul 7, 2011 - 01:42am PT

karodrinkerTrad climber
San Jose, CA

Id love to share a rope with you someday. If so try not to make me laugh and fall off cruxes.

Jul 7, 2011 - 03:03am PT

mcreelclimber
Barcelona

So, did you manage to keep your job?

Jul 7, 2011 - 03:32am PT

starthere

climber

Wow, that's crazy! Thanks for sharing.

Jul 7, 2011 - 04:07am PT

Karl BabaTrad climber
Yosemite, Ca

Super fun and well done!

Jul 7, 2011 - 12:04pm PT

Cain J WatersMountain climber
Ithaca, NY

You are quite possibly the most entertaining read on the internet when it comes to climbing TRs. We're lucky that you've decided to post your adventurous exploits on the Supertopo! We will continue to climb vicariously and await your next report. All the best! -CW & AW

Jul 7, 2011 - 02:10pm PT

utahman912Social climber
SLC, UT

Clearly in the lead for "Best Trip Report of the Year"

Jul 7, 2011 - 03:05pm PT

tahoe523Trad climber
Station Wagon, USA

Author's Reply

I have a rad boss. But it's 7:30pm on a Thursday night and I'm still at work, so that tells you something.

Jul 7, 2011 - 10:46pm PT

It wasn't worth almost getting fired for. (not saying that just because I know he's reading this. Hi, Ken!!) The rock isn't going anywhere. Well, unless that bird was really a Peregrine and then NPS decides to close the Nose. Can you imagine the whinery?

The cool thing about being a climber unfettered, mortgage and child free is that if you do happen to get the boot, the consolation prize is pretty sweet. I did briefly fantasize about going back to Squamish and then to the Bugs. Oh well.

Thanks for reading. Glad you were entertained. They're all mega long. You definitely are not part of Generation ADHD.

Cheers!

Ezra EllisTrad climber North wet, and Da
souf

Fantastic write up Tahoe,
 You get TR of the year in my book. Great sense of humor about being a homeless bag lady when you retire! Made me laugh!
 Best wishes on your future endeavors, please write them up!!!!
 -e

Jul 7, 2011 - 11:12pm PT

Jul 7, 2011 - 11:20pm PT

climber

Jul 20, 2011 - 03:29pm PT

Mountain climber
San Francisco

Jul 20, 2011 - 10:02pm PT

Trad climber
Hustle City

Jul 20, 2011 - 10:08pm PT

climber
Boston, MA

Jul 20, 2011 - 11:27pm PT

Trad climber
Nothing creative to say

Jul 21, 2011 - 12:09am PT

Big Wall climber
like Ontario,
Canada, eh?

And thanks for those beers, eh? Good luck on the Hulk!

Jul 21, 2011 - 03:00am PT

Big Wall climber
korea

Jul 21, 2011 - 03:26am PT

climber
Boise, ID

Jul 21, 2011 - 09:33am PT

climber
Oklahoma

Nice TR thanks for sharing I really enjoyed it!

Jul 21, 2011 - 01:34pm PT

Trad climber
Station Wagon, USA

Me: June 26th

You: No. The year. What's the year?

The Hungarian: Isn't he that weird, slow, crazy, horny Canadian?

[Silence]

By the way, I left you a bag of Oregon's finest coffee with your lady friend in the Ahwahnee. You must have me confused with another cracked out Asian. It's okay. All of you middle aged Canadians look the same to me, too.

Hristo, please let me know when you're heading back to Yosemite. I'd like to meet you when you're on the ground- more importantly, not moving.

Clint Cummins

Trad climber
SF Bay area, CA

Jul 21, 2011 - 01:58pm PT

^^^ haha, too funny for supertopo!! Laughs like that always appreciated. And Pete is great at the court jester role. :-)

Chris McNamara

SuperTopo staff member

Jul 22, 2011 - 11:56am PT

Rj thinks this is one of the best tr's ever. I have to agree. Still laughing and reading passages out loud.

cultureshock

Trad climber
Mountain View

Apr 25, 2012 - 12:28pm PT

BUMP!

Dirka

Trad climber
Hustle City

Apr 25, 2012 - 01:36pm PT

BzzzzzNump!

wayne burleson

climber
Amherst, MA

Apr 26, 2012 - 05:27pm PT

Missed this one the first time around... Great writing! I had to wipe tears away at one point...

gent

Trad climber portland, or

Sep 9, 2012 - 12:09am PT

That WAS funny! Thanks for the "bumps"- that TR really deserved it. The breakdown of male-female differences/advantages is truly classic and priceless. Thanks so much!

Crimpergirl

Sport climber
Boulder, Colorado!

Sep 9, 2012 - 12:21am PT

Missed it the first time too. Great stuff (well, except about the baby bird. :/) Thanks for the bump!

Jan

Mountain climber
Colorado & Nepal

Sep 9, 2012 - 12:58am PT

Best trip report ever!
Great role model for us old gals to fantasize about.
Next lifetime, you're my mentor.

Sep 9, 2012 - 06:46pm PT

Oh gawd I laughed harder on the second read. GOOD CALL by whoever bumped.

le_bruceclimber
Oakland, CA

Bird puncher cracks me up. Once in Manitou Springs I saw a guy with the tattoo "Face puncher" scrawled on his arm in crappy writing. Not a joke, honest truth.

Don PaulSocial climber
Washington DC

Sep 9, 2012 - 07:04pm PT

Great story! My first trip up El Cap I wanted to top out as soon as possible and get the hell back to safety as soon as possible. We were up at dawn and finishing the last pitch of the day in the dark. Why? Scared shitless that's why. But my next time I do plan to go slower and enjoy the ride. And figure out how the 2:1 pulley system works.

nutjobSport climber Almost to Hollywood, Baby!

Sep 9, 2012 - 07:43pm PT

+1 for hall-of-fame funny reports! I'm sorry I missed it first time around, happy I saw it now.

Butt waxer huh.

Here's a hint on the pee thing:

<http://www.go-girl.com/what-is-gogirl.asp>

[Click to View YouTube Video]

Mike BolteTrad climber
Planet Earth

Sep 13, 2012 - 10:46am PT

wow - how did I miss this before. That was hilarious! And, way to go too.

OldEricTrad climber
Westboro, MA

Sep 13, 2012 - 12:56pm PT

As good as it gets

DirkaTrad climber
Hustle City

Sep 13, 2012 - 08:35pm PT

TFPU! Congratulations.

AntinJIce climber
Golden, CO

Sep 8, 2015 - 02:28pm PT

Awesome TR! I just discovered this old thread after scheming up some bad, Nose-related judgement of my own. Thanks for persuading me even further towards this disaster-style approach.

Great read,

J

snowhazedTrad climber
Oaksterdam, CA

Sep 8, 2015 - 03:44pm PT

rad that this was dug up! loved it

Lclimber
Just livin' the dream

Sep 10, 2015 - 05:20pm PT

Great TR!

Funny as hell.

Do more; post more!

Ryan Evansclimber Mammoth Lakes

Sep 11, 2015 - 10:06am PT

" Sometimes I think it's more fun to watch a Chia Pet grow fur. No wonder the Silent Partner retails at $240. Human labor is cheap."

Sep 11, 2015 - 10:20am PT

le_bruceclimber
Oakland, CA

Third read, still better.

Touches on all the important themes in big wall climbing: poop, fear, the worry of boners, Hungarians, menstruation, laying comatose under storms, frowning with laughter.

Was Shinto even real, or a dream that came to us? Long live the Keyser Söze of ST.

overwatchclimber Arizona

Jul 8, 2016 – 01:29am PT

bump for climbing...well written and humorous as others said.

I just skimmed the comments, did you go back for the NIAD?

Lclimber
Just livin' the dream

Oct 10, 2017 – 06:48pm PT

So funny bump.

StudlyTrad climber WA

Oct 10, 2017 – 07:29pm PT

Awesome TR. Great writing and humor and spirit of adventure!

Zayclimber
Monterey, Ca

Dec 31, 2018 – 05:34am PT

It's 5:30am, it's dark, I'm my friends' house... and I might have just woke them from accross the house with bellowing laughter.

Bump.

AeriqSport climber
100-year Visitor

Dec 31, 2018 – 07:16am PT

Missed this the first time around – thanks for the bump.

Great writing!

mynameismudclimber backseat

Dec 31, 2018 – 08:45am PT

Made me laugh. Nice TR

MeiTrad climber mxi2000.net

Dec 31, 2018 – 08:50am PT

Her writing is so good. Too bad that she stopped posting, but maybe it's because she's busy going on adventures.

Mike BolteTrad climber
Planet Earth

Jan 2, 2019 – 09:10am PT

well, that was fun! Thanks.

Clint CumminsTrad climber
SF Bay area, CA

Jan 2, 2019 – 02:44pm PT

Mei,

Her writing is so good. Too bad that she stopped posting, but maybe it's because she's busy going on adventures.

Yes, Shino is doing plenty of adventuring – she posts some stuff on facebook and my son Skyler has done many fun climbs with her.

These trip reports were written mostly for her father, when his health was in decline and he was remembering his old climbing dreams (like climbing El Cap) but realizing that he would not be able to achieve them. So she kind of did the climbs in place of him.

nothing brought him joy like reading and seeing pictures of his daughter on the historic routes he read about while growing up. It became my mission to share my mischief with him as he adventured vicariously; I was now climbing for two.

<http://www.supertopo.com/tr/The-Last-Trip-Report/t11146n.html>

Home | Climbing Areas | Free Topos | Guidebooks | Route Beta | Forum | Trip Reports | Photos | Articles
Links | Terms | Privacy | FAQ | Contact | About Us

Climbing Areas

Rock Climbing Yosemite | Big Wall Rock Climbing Yosemite | Rock Climbing Tuolumne | Rock Climbing Sierra
Rock Climbing Red Rocks | Rock Climbing Southwest | Rock Climbing Zion | Rock Climbing Tahoe | Climbing Alaska

Copyright © 2026 SuperTopo LLC

All trademarks property of their respective owners

How can we improve SuperTopo? Got feedback?

Let us know!

Time to generate this page: 0.11 secs.

Climbing is dangerous. Climb at your own risk.